The Light in the Night.

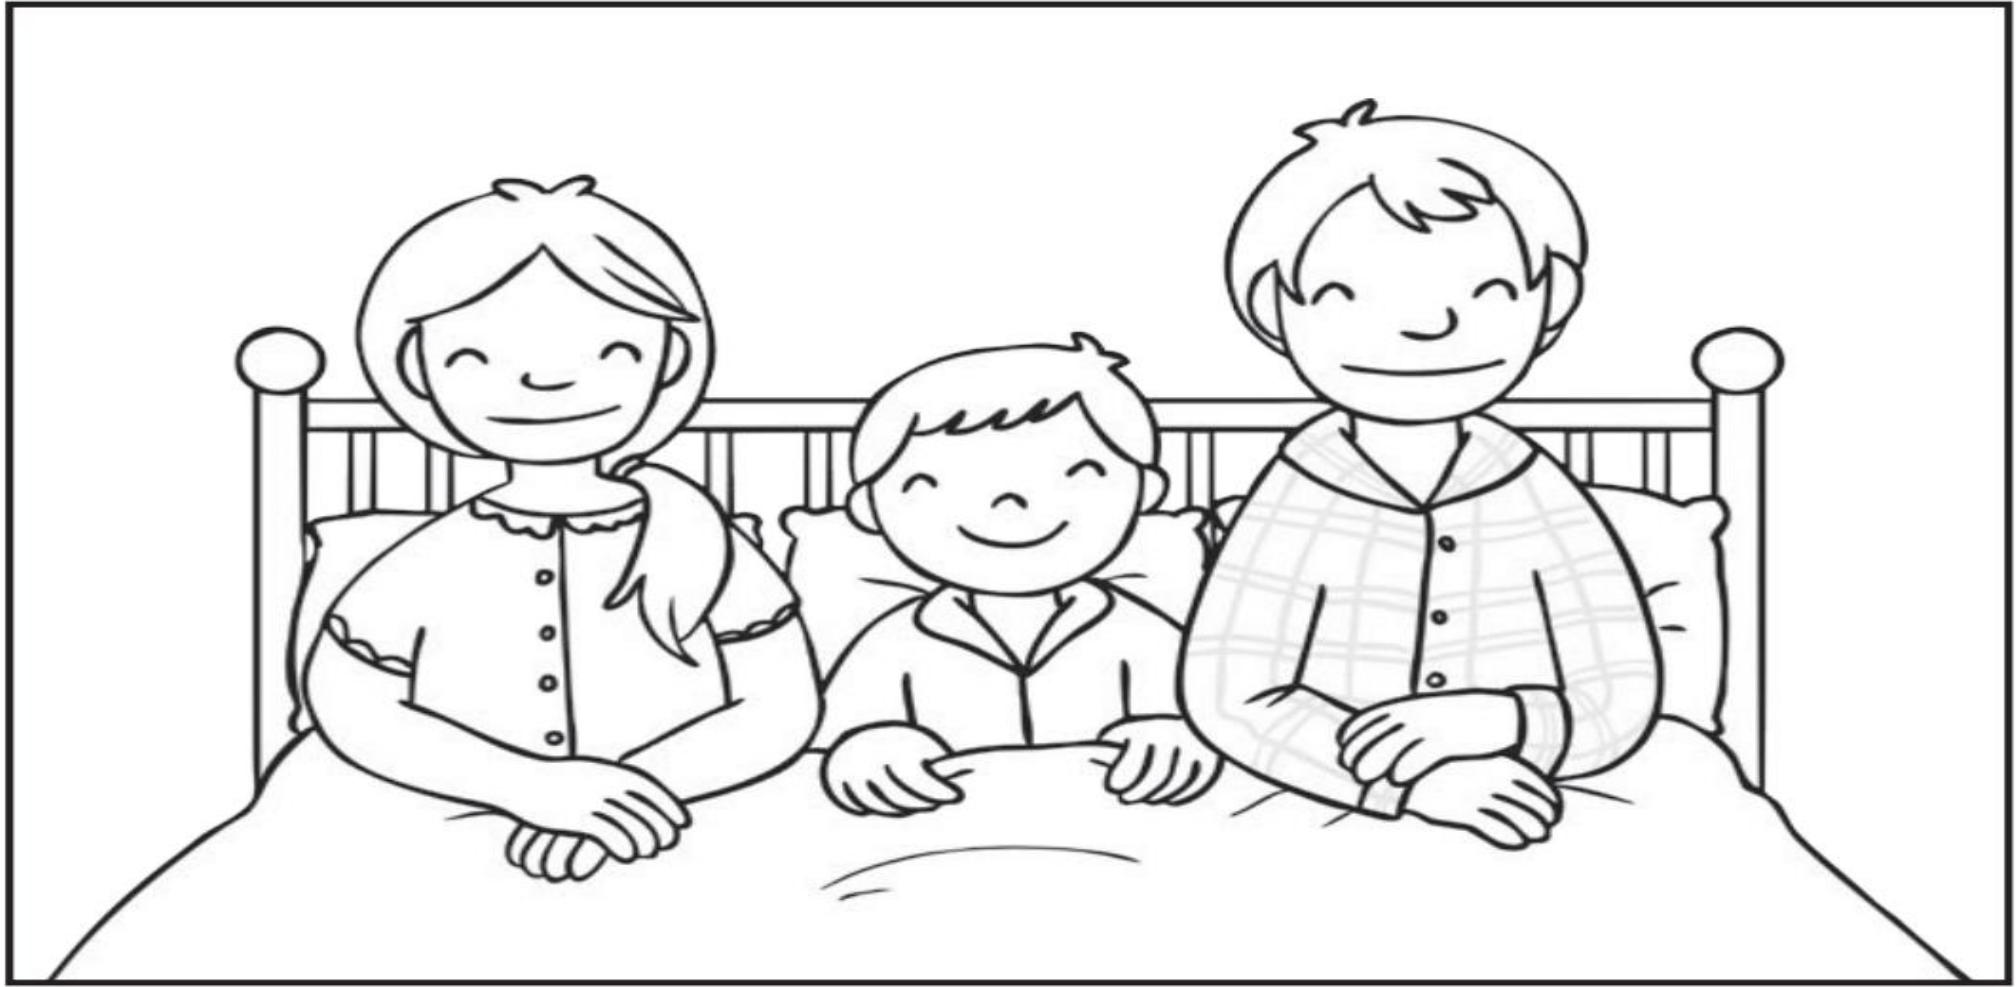

Dwight was in the woods. He often went to the woods with his mum and dad.

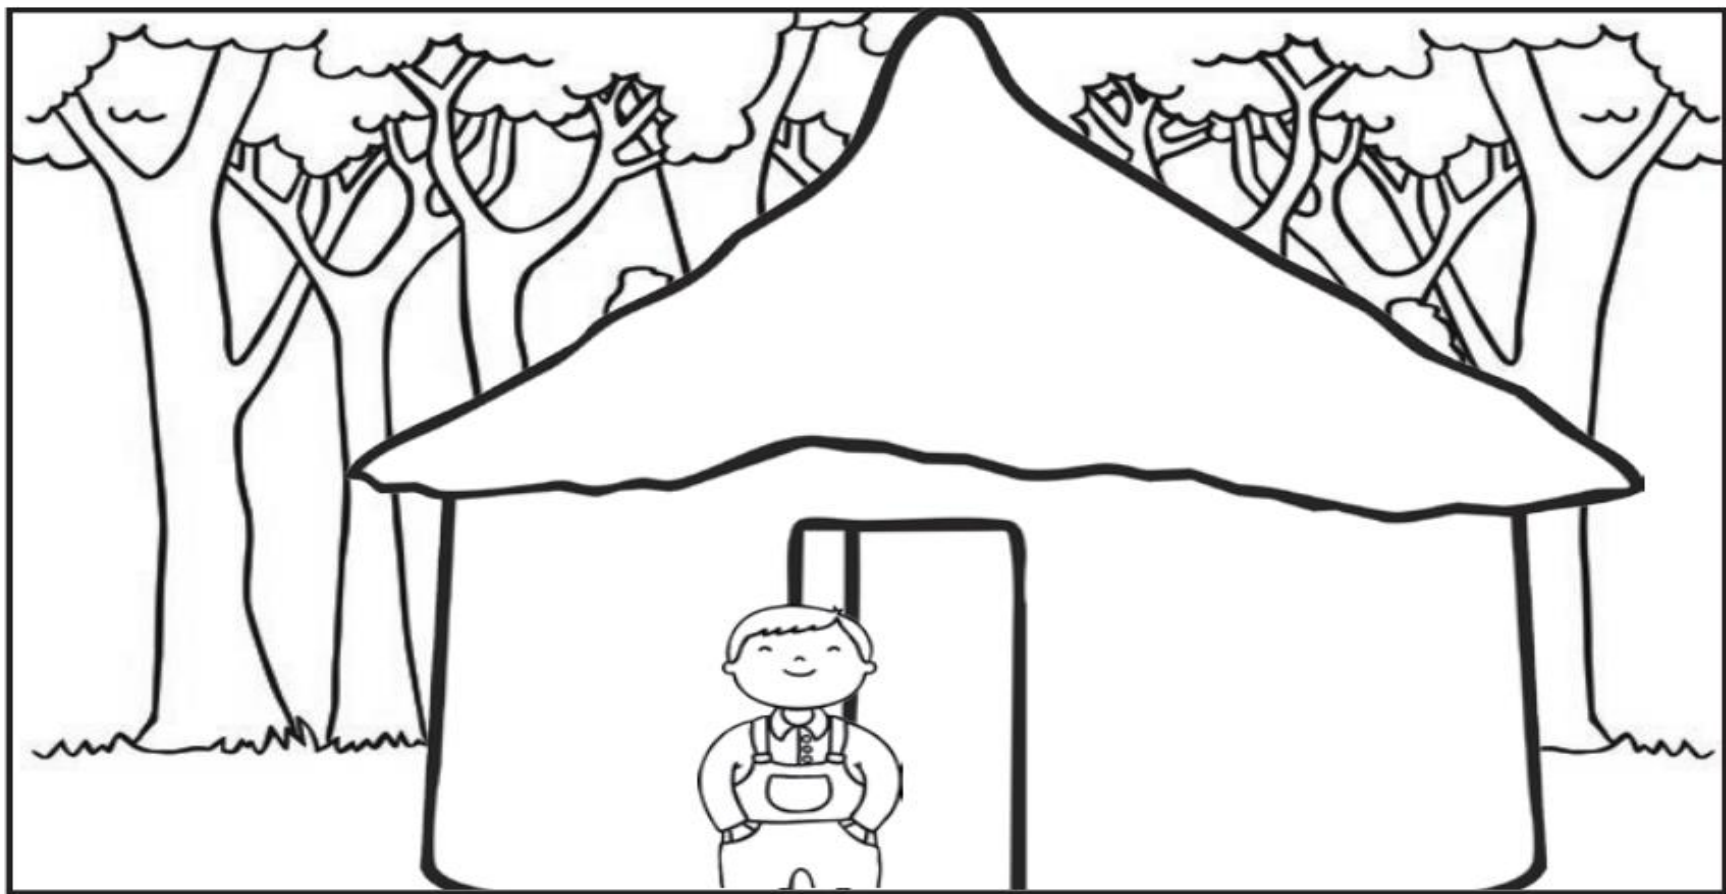

They had a hut that had beds in it. In the summer, they slept in the hut.

The wood was dark at night. The hut was dark too. It did not contain a light.

Dwight slept next to his mum and dad,
as he often got a fright.

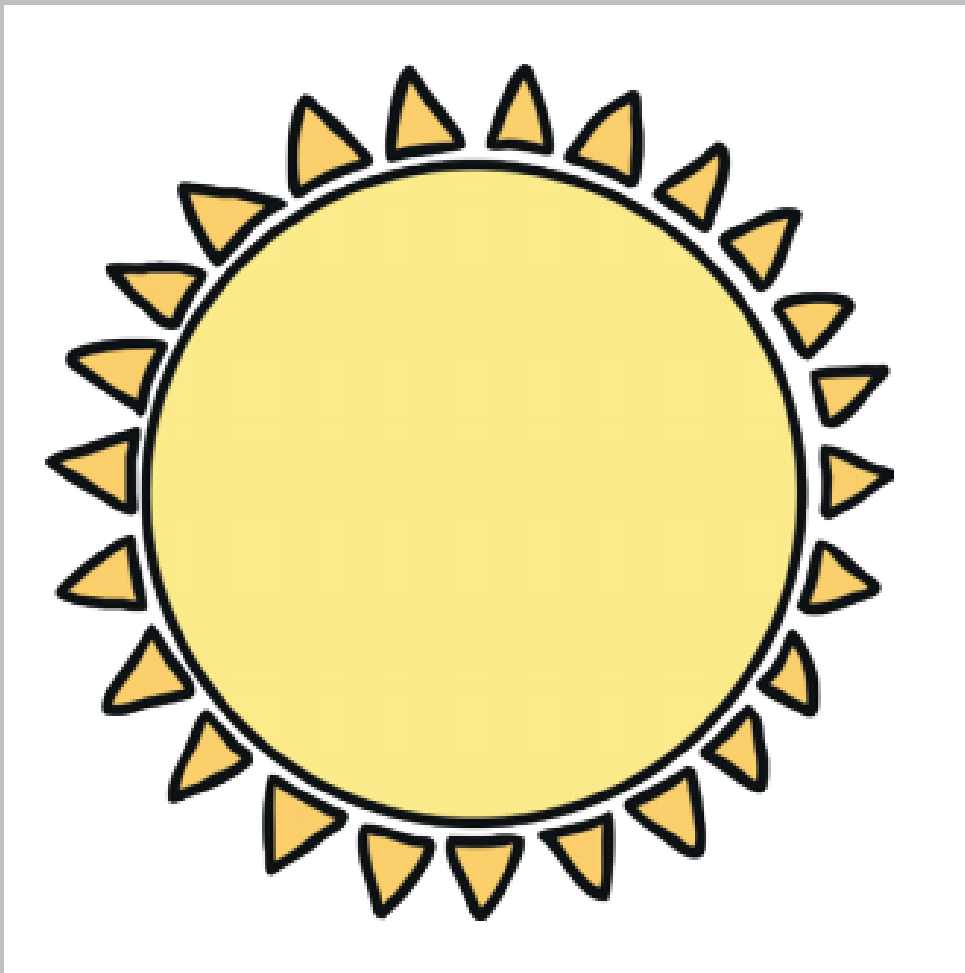

One night in winter, Dwight had to sleep in the hut, as his mum and dad went to hunt for food.

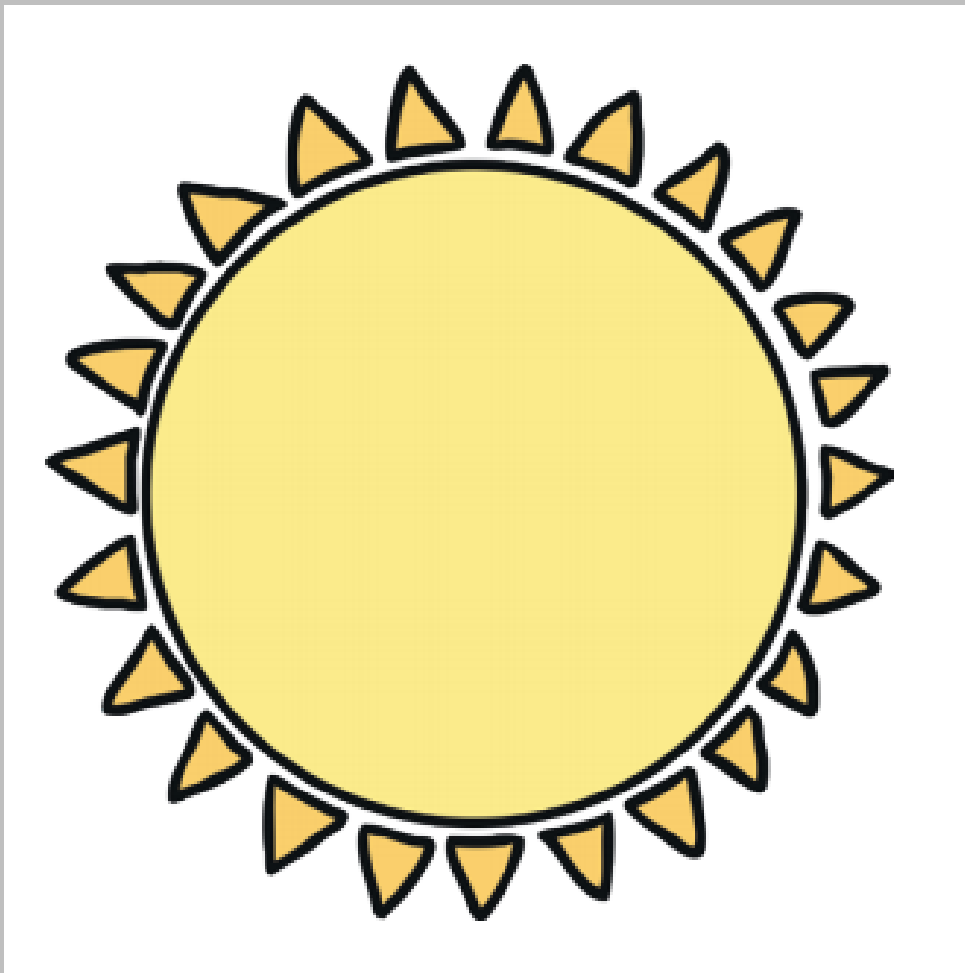

Then, he did see a bright light. His mum and dad had put it next to his bed. He did not need to feel afraid.

At the end of a long road, there was a big oak tree.

Under the tree, there was a sad toad called Joan. Joan did nothing but moan.

That night, she got soaked from the rain. She moaned!

In the morning, a goat in a coat with big pockets sat down under the tree. The goat had been roaming for weeks. He must rest now.

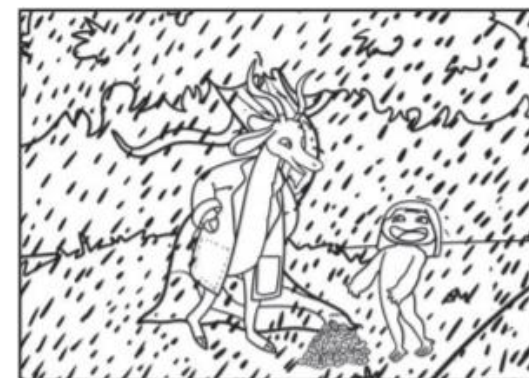

The goat looked at the sad, wet toad next to him. She moaned at him.

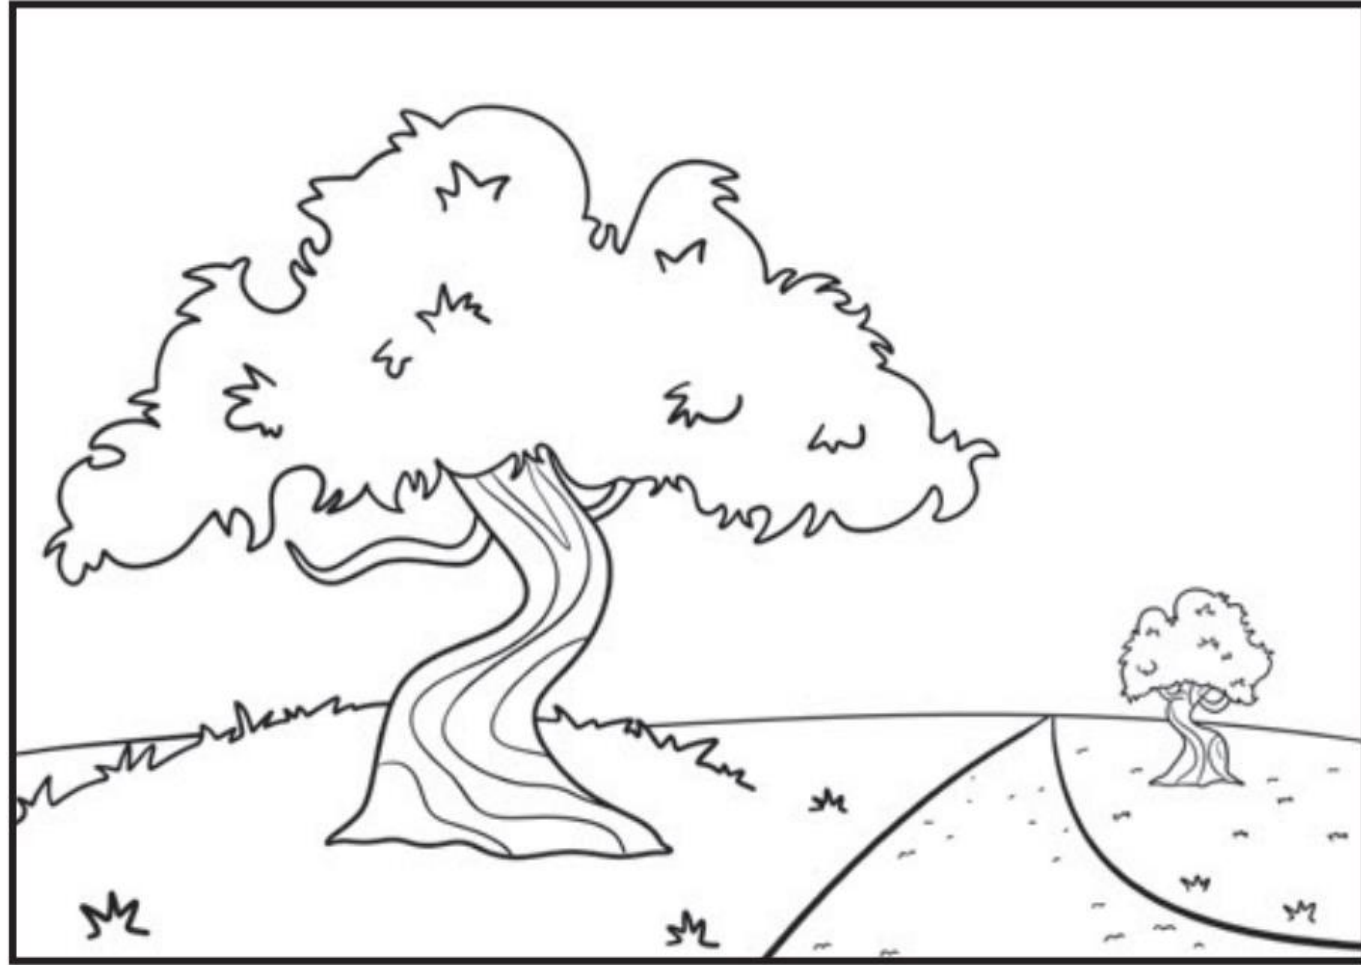

To help Joan, the goat pulled his coat pocket off. Then, he put it on top of her back.

"I will loan you this pocket. Now it is your turn to roam! The rain will not get in. You do not need to moan. Just go down the road and see the sights of town!" The goat coaxed Joan.

So, Joan the toad stopped moaning and went down the road to roam. She went for a long time but got back that night with a load of oats for the goat. "Thank you, goat!"
